H., May 3d, 1816, and lived in Massachusetts, Vermont and Canada, spending the most of his time for the last fifty years lecturing upon his favorite theme, phrenology. Although very eccentric, all who knew him could but feel that he was master of his profession. In former years he lectured to good audiences, and was treated as a friend by some of the best minds in the state. He had a wonderful mind, and although much broken down of late, he was considered a man of good judgment upon most subjects, and many of his friends will long remember his quaint expressions and apt illustrations. He was no financier, and was often heard to remark that he had ived to do good to his fellowmen. His reduced circumstances caused him a great deal of mental suffering, and no doubt shortened his days. His prayer, that he might not become a public charge, was seemingly answered. "To die is gain," was the text which he selected for his funeral sermon. While friends bow low 'neath sornow's cross And bear affliction's pain, They know that their o'erwhelming loss Is her eternal gain. in Sotton, June 11, John Holtham, aged 79 years. Thou has left us, darling father,

Never more on earth to dwell;

Meet you on the shining shore;

Joined to part again no more.

And how sweet 'twill be to great you,

Gone to dwell with happy angels

In that land where all is well. How we miss you, durling father, Serrowing wife and children dear, But we yield you to another. Where the angels hover near. Farewell, father, soon we'll meet you, Boston Wholesale Produce Market

What Professionals Say: We, the undersigned, take pleasure in expressing our views of the Smith American Planos. One of their uprights, furnished by J. M. Casa, was used at a musical convention heid in Wheelock, Vo. June 15th and 16th, 1887, and gave great credit to the makers. We like them for their good qualities, viz.: Their strong and voice-like tone, quick responsive action, even scale and thorough construction. M. M. Taplin, Leader; Mus. M. M. Taplin Pinnist; Prof. S.
